Just Like a Woman

The census returns are called on in Great Britain to establish identity, age and other matters involving property. Some years ago the Irish census records of 1841 were sought for evidence in an inheritance case. The failure of the records to give a correct statement of a woman's age largely determined the decision. She had made herself out ten years younger than she was, and the lower court ruled that she could not be the woman who was wanted in the chain of descent. It never pays to misrepresent, and it does no harm to state the facts.—Vancouver Province.

UNION OFFICIALS ARE STUB-BORN--PUBLIC SENTIMENT AGAINST STRIKING MINERS

Conference at Macleod is Miserable Failure--Operators Agree to Dr. Gordon's Report but Miners Refuse to Accept It

OPERATORS MAY OPEN THEIR MINES

The meeting which took place at Macleod on Monday last for the purpose of discussing the strike situation was a miserable failure so far as settling the strike was concerned. After hours of fruitless endeavor to get the coal miners and mine operators of District 18, U.M.W. of A. together in an effort to settle the strike which has been in existence since April last, says a press despatch, the delegates from the Boards of Trade of Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, who met at Macleod on Monday have returned to their homes and the strike situation is precisely where it was before the convention was called.

That no apparent good resulted from the convention was not the fault of the delegates, who, taking up the situation as hard-headed business-men, worked hard until an early hour Tuesday morning, endeavoring to get the parties to the dispute together and only ceased their labors when it was plainly apparent that further efforts were useless.

When the motion for the adjournment was made on Tuesday morning the feeling was against the miners and nothing has since transpired to change it. The reason for this is that while the operators have replied to the Minister of Labor that they are prepared to accept the finding of the board of conciliation as outlined in the report of Dr. Gordon, chairman of the board, even though it is not considered fair in several respects, the miners absolutely refuse to accept the findings.

The unyielding attitude taken by the miners, who, despite their protestations that they want to see the trouble settled, do not seem to give way at all, was the cause of much comment towards the latter part of the motion, and finally ended in the following resolution being drawn and sent by wire to MacKenzie King, Minister of Labor, after being passed unanimously by the delegates:

"Whereas there has been cessation of work in the coal fields of Southern Alberta and Eastern British Columbia since April, 1911, (Continued on Page 4.)

LONG STRIKE ENDED--MINERS LOSE

"The miners throughout the Irwin-Greenburg coal fields in Westmoreland county held meetings of their locals Wednesday to take a vote on ending the strike that has been on for sixteen months. In every instance the miners voted to give up the struggle as the International executive board of the United Mine Workers in session at Indianapolis voted to discontinue paying strike benefits. The board further directed Francis Feehan, of the Pittsburgh district, to call the strike leaders together and terminate the strike without recognition or concessions."

"Feehan called this meeting Monday and the leaders left the question to the locals, which made final decision Wednesday."

"Eighteen lives have been lost in the strike, more than a million dollars have been expended besides large donations from sympathizers."

"The prolonged strike attracted the attention of the entire nation and the conditions were becoming so deplorable that Congressman W. B. Wilson introduced a resolution in congress authorizing a congressional investigation of the situation."

The above article, which is taken from the Democrat of July 10th 1911, printed at Lock Haven, Pennsylvania, is indeed very significant. What with the deplorable fiasco and failure, which the United Mine Workers of America made of the strike at Springfield, Nova Scotia, and Westmoreland County, it goes to demonstrate the fact that the above organization will withhold their men from employment, thereby causing the miners great suffering and hardship for months on end, and as a grand finale to their arbitrary and tyrannical action, it then tells its members that it will no longer support them in their contentions, but instead, that they must return to work, without any concessions, and even without any recognition of their Union.

After such miserable treatment of the men concerned in the above strikes, it certainly increases our surprise that the judgment of the miners in the Crow's Nest Pass, the Lethbridge and Canmore fields, should remain in what appears to be a condition of complete subservience and the dupes and playthings of a body of officials, whom their ex-president, Tom Lewis, himself, has declared to be unscrupulous and untrustworthy, and who would report to the most deplorable tactics in order to remain in power.

As suggested in our issue of last week, we would again urge upon the right thinking miners of District 18 the necessity of a very full and comprehensive investigation into the methods of their organization along the lines there laid down.

Let us hope that the disclosures that have recently been made in regard to the conduct and policy of the U.M.W. of A. officials will unhandage the eyes of the great body of men who have so long been their puppets and dupes, and that they will take the most stringent measures to learn for themselves some of the inside workings of their own Society.

MANY CURES ARE EFFECTED

At Rocky Mountain Sanatorium--Large Numbers Visit Famous Sulphur Springs

A SPLENDID HEALTH RESORT.

That Institution Is Doing a Great Deal of Good for Suffering Humanity

That the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium has relieved many weary ones of a large number of ills and has thereby accomplished a great deal of good for suffering humanity, since its opening only a few short months ago, is very evident when one takes into consideration the large number of persons who have entered that sanatorium crippled with rheumatism, suffering from nervous, muscular and other diseases, after taking a few sulphur baths and with the careful and courteous attention of those in charge, their illness has completely left them, and, like the man in the Bible, they have gone on their way rejoicing.

We know of cases where persons have been taken to the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium, after having been given up by the doctors and but very little hope was held out for their recovery. But like Nauman of old, when that old Biblical character dipped himself seven times in Jordan, was cured of his ills and "his flesh became like that of a little child," so have many of those who have taken baths at the famous sulphur springs at Frank, become relieved of numerous ills, and they are now enjoying life as they never did before. Many of those happy ones are loud in their praises of the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium and thank their stars that such a place exists.

The Rocky Mountain Sanatorium is one of the greatest health resorts in the West. Every detail has been carefully planned to make it a delightful place for strong and healthy people as well as for those who are less fortunate, to spend a few weeks or months. The building is surrounded with scenery both grand and sublime.

Elections in September.

Toronto, July 27--A despatch from Berlin, Ont., says:

"It is learned from semi-official sources that the general elections will be held on Thursday, Sept. 21, with nominations a week earlier. Liberals here have been instructed to prepare the lists for manhood suffrage registration."

8,000 Men Required

It has been estimated that as many as 8,000 men may be required this fall to gather in the record harvest in the history of Alberta, and the provincial government hopes to arrange with the railroad companies for a $10 rate from the east to Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge and all intermediate points.

Court News.

Three cases were heard at the Blairmore police barracks on Monday forenoon by Justice Pinkney. The first descendant of Adam who answered to the rollcall was Angelo Survo, who was charged with causing a disturbance on July 19th, by smashing a door of a shack occupied by Silvio Sapetti. Survo was fined $2.00 and costs.

Silvio Sapetti was then charged with, having on July 19th, used insulting language to Angelo Survo. He, too, was fined $2.00 and costs.

A case which excited little more than passing thought was that introduced to the court by James Zitto. Zitto charged Wilfrid L. Voi with having on Sunday, July 23rd, wilfully wounded a dog belonging to the former. L. Voi stated that Zitto's dog had worried and killed several of the former's chickens and he thought that he was perfectly justified in killing a dog while the animal is in the act of destroying such property as that already stated, but it appears that half an hour had elapsed from the time the dog was found doing its mischievous work until L. Voi made any attempt to shoot it. L. Voi was, therefore, fined $5.75. Zitto claimed damages to the amount of $75.00 for his dog but his claim was completely turned down by the court. L. H. Putnam acted for the defence. This case may be appealed.

B. Westman, a pedler, of Winnipeg, was up before Justice Belcher on Monday night charged with selling goods without a license. He was fined $10 and costs.

V. N. Kelly was found guilty under the vagrancy act, by Justice Pinkney on Tuesday and fined $1 and costs or one month imprisonment.

Parents often Responsible

People are accustomed to talk of crimes as a terrible thing and say that the son has fallen dreadfully when he has not fallen at all. He was raised that way.

Right here in this country some fathers and mothers are educating their children in the requirements of first-class devils.
Of course they do not mean to do so, but they are none the less.

Boys are let run wild, are not off the streets until after midnight and are never put to work.
It is as natural for the idle boy to go to the bad as it is for him to live. The influence is that way. Instead of the pure and holy, hallowed atmosphere of home many boys are allowed to breathe the unwholesome air of a crowd of smokers and listen to the oaths sworn more often than prayers are offered at home.

Parents are responsible for their boys and should surround them with attractive home influences. Train a boy to go in good company and he will go there, let him go wild and his associates will be anything but good.

Editorial Notes

Take care of the girls as well as the boys, your fathers and mothers who have such trusted to your care.

Home and its surroundings above all other places in the world should be scrupulously guarded against contaminating influences.

You can generally judge of the occupants of a house by the condition in which the front and back yards are kept. In a general sense we all pride ourselves on being clean and tidy.

Potatoes are now being sold around here at almost $5 a sack.
The idea of teaching every girl to thump the piano and every boy to be a book-keeper will make potatoes worth $8 a sack or $15 a barrel in 20 years.

"Am sorry, Mr. Editor, I cannot give you any advertisement.
I am troubled with heart disease and my physician says I must quit advertising so I can have absolute quiet and rest."

"Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." Thus runs the old saw, and there's more in it, probably, than many of us are willing to admit. Rushing things is all right if not carried too far. But some people in their mad desire to hog everything in sight, overdo it. To this class belongs the old lady who went to the stairway and yelled upstairs to her grown-up daughter:
"Sally! Sally! Get up! Get up!
Here! It is four o'clock Monday morning, tomorrow's Tuesday, the next day's Wednesday, half the week's gone and nothing done yet."

UNION OFFICIALS ARE STUB-BORN-PUBLIC SENTIMENT AGAINST STRIKING MINERS

and whereas the public has already been seriously affected by the shortage of coal in the agricultural regions of Alberta and Saskatchewan and in the smelting districts of British Columbia, and the business generally throughout the entire district has been paralyzed, and whereas grave anxiety is felt over the prospect of a coal famine for the coming winter.

"And whereas in view of the pressing necessity for action, the boards of trade throughout the affected districts decided to hold a combined meeting for the purpose of endeavoring to bring about a settlement of the dispute, but although the representatives of both parties were present and the situation was fully presented it has been found impossible to bring the parties together, and whereas there has been a board of conciliation under the Lemieux Act, and a report has been brought in over the signature of Rev. C. W. Gordon, chairman of such board and the only unprejudiced party thereon;

"Be it therefore resolved that this meeting expresses its endorsement of such report as is brought in by said chairman and is of the opinion that such report should be accepted by both parties to the dispute and that the Minister of Labor take all necessary steps to have the mines in the district opened up forthwith, upon the basis of Dr.
Gordon's finding."

The delegates feel that the public is being made to suffer at the whim of the leaders of the Union whose action in refusing to accept the award of the board of investigation has precipitated a coal famine.

What the next move will be it is impossible to say, but there is every possibility that the mines will be thrown open in a very short time by the operators who say they only wanted a definite refusal from the miners to enable them to decide upon their future policy.

When asked by the chairman of the Macleod meeting if the operators were prepared to accept the conciliation board's findings, Mr.
Lewis Stockett answered by reading the following reply to Hon. Mac-Kenzie King:

"We feel that the majority report of the board is anything but a fair proposition, taking into account the financial standing of a large number of the companies involved and also taking into consideration the large financial interests at stake. We also feel that the acceptance of same will work a hardship on the large capital investment, which may take years to overcome. In this connection, we might refer in passing to the fact that the report states that one of the facts disclosed by the investigation of the board was that probably two-thirds of the mines in the association were operated during the past two years at a loss.

OPERATORS ACCEPT THE AGREEMENT.

We realize however, that the public have, to a very large extent, to be considered, and while, if we considered only the interests of the companies involved we would be forced to decline to accept the findings of the board, we feel that rather than precipitate a coal famine and the consequent suffering, we should accept the same. In doing so we wish it to be understood that we are signifying our willingness to negotiate an agreement with the United Mine Workers of America along the general lines suggested by the board in its majority report.
This we understand to mean an absolute open shop with a non-discrimination clause to be conceded to the operators that we retain absolutely the management of the mines and control of all these employees connected with the management and safety of the same. We also understand that the increase in the day's wages as provided in the last agreement between the United Mine Workers of America,
District No. 18, and the West-

A Run-Away at Blaimore Creates Much Excitement.

A run-away which caused considerable excitement occurred from near Frayer and Sinclair's office, on Wednesday morning when a team of able horses belonging to Joseph Padot, became frightened and dashed madly down Victoria Street to Ninth Avenue where they made several circles and semi-circles, from thence to the railroad, crossing at a gallop over the C.P.R. bridge which spans Lyon Creek.
At the east end of the bridge the horses left the hind wheels of the lumber wagon by the side of the track. They then visited the Fol-lietier sub-division, where they kept up their capers for some time, bringing forth hideous screams from many women and pitiful cries from several children who hurried indoors to save themselves from harm.

Although the horses passed through several streets, avenues and lanes where little children were playing and where older people were moving to and fro, no person was hurt, which is a miracle in itself. The horses at last found the brewery, where they stopped, apparently wanting a drink, and were taken charge of by the bewildered driver, who found they were nothing the worse for their runaway.

This excitement was caused by a man passing from the lumber yard with several pieces of lumber on his back. The driver, who was seated in the wagon at the time, was unable to control the horses and he was thrown out shortly after the animals started on the run.

Board of Trade.

A special meeting of the Blair-more Board of Trade was held in Budd's hall on Saturday afternoon. There were present W.
A. Beebe, vice-president; T. B.
George, secretary; H. E. Lyon, T. Frayer, C. Hisecks, J. G.
Smith, R. M. Brisco, J. D. S.
Barrett, W. L. Shira and R.
Green.

The meeting was called for the purpose of considering communications received from Fernie Board of Trade regarding a meeting to be held at Macleod on Monday. The said communication was as follows:

"It has been arranged that the meeting of the delegates from the British Columbia and Alberta Boards of Trade to discuss the present coal situation, be held at Macleod on Monday afternoon, July 24th, at 2:30 o'clock. We trust that your Board will be represented by at least two delegates with credentials."

"A strong meeting of the Boards is anticipated. Kindly advise us by wire how many delegates you will be sending."

Roseland, Greenwood, Kaslo, Nelson, Grand Forks, Cambridge, Elko, Hosmer, New Michel, Coleman, Blaimore, Frank, Pincher Creek, Macleod, Lethbridge, Taber, Calgary and Edmonton were all asked to send delegates to the joint meeting held at Macleod.

H. E. Lyon moved and R. M.
Brisco seconded that the Board send two delegates to attend a meeting to be held there on Monday, 24th inst., to discuss the coal strike situation. The Board was informed that Coleman and Frank had decided to do nothing in the matter and upon a vote being taken on the foregoing motion, it was de-fected.

News of World-Wide Interest From the Canadian Metropolis

(From our own correspondent.)
MONTREAL HOPES TO ABOLISH SUMMER.

Montreal, July 27.—That Montreal will be the first city in the world to be cooled artificially during the summer months as soon as an efficient system for accomplishing this result is completed is the most striking result of the recent hot wave which in five days caused more than 160 deaths and nearly 1,000 prostrations and kept the ambulances tearing through the streets to such an extent that the city thoroughfares resembled an enormous race-track. The possibility of providing a municipal cooling system has been discussed before, but never has anything been done because of the fact that it has been thought that the expense of its installation would be too great. Now, however, the realization has come that it would work tremendous economies. Experts who have looked into the matter figure that every stifling summer day causes a loss of at least fifty thousand dollars to the city's business interests through the decreased efficiency of labor of all kinds under the existing conditions. Every day when the thermometer shows ninety degrees or over means a decrease in working efficiency of about forty per cent. it is figured. Moreover, practically every kind of business feels the effect through the decreased public interest. Cool air would be supplied to the city during the summer along exactly the same lines though on a much larger scale, as those by which heat is supplied to the great office buildings in winter. The solution of the problem has of course not yet been worked out, but its actual value in dollars and cents makes its ultimate arrival seem inevitable.

MALE CULINARY EXPERTS.

An invasion of women's rights on the part of the males is now in vogue here as a result of the establishment of a novel cooking school exclusively for men, the first of its kind in the city. In it they will be initiated into all sorts of culinary mysteries which heretofore have been taught only to women and within six weeks it is expected that the student pupils who have entered up to date will be able to make biscuits which will far excel the best that father ever made and rival the famous mother product. Incidentally they will learn to cook meats, make pastry, manufacture a pie or prepare any other dish which may be desired. The establishment of this unique school is not, however, an effort to educate husbands for suffragettes who can care for the household while the wife is engaged in politics or business. The idea is merely to undermine the sovereign independence of the cook who at present comes close to being the ruler of many households. The founders of the school believe that as soon as a realization is achieved of the fact that a threat to leave on the part of the cook does not mean that the family will be left in dire straits, a fairer relation will be established all around. Incidentally a course in the new school will be valuable to the husband left desolate in the city during the time his family is at the seashore or in the mountains. If the idea develops as it is hoped it is expected that summer cases of dyspepsia will be minimized and the so-called servant problem solved, at least in part.

VALUE OF WHITE COAL.

The following table shows the extent to which the development of waterpower has proceeded so far in Canada:

| Province | Investment | H. P. w. |
|---------------|--------------|----------|
| Alberta | $ 9,425,000 | 51,700 |

According to the above, Ontario leads Quebec by about 250,000 horse power production, but it will not be long before these figures will be materially changed if present plans do not miscarry. Around Montreal work is being rushed night and day on several water power developments which, when completed, will add considerably to Quebec's grand total.

Here and There

Hon. Sydney Fisher announced in the federal house last week that the census department did not think it would be possible to have final figures ready all October.

Hon. E. P. Brodeur, minister of marine and fisheries will retire, probably to the supreme bench, and Dr. Boland, of Beauce, will become Quebec's new representative in the cabinet and have charge of the Liberal forces in the Quebec district.

A bulletin on the crops and live stock of Canada has just been issued. The condition of the field crops of Canada for the month ending June 30, as compiled in the census and statistics office from the reports of a large staff of correspondents, is on the whole quite satisfactory.

The newspapers have been reporting criticism on the part of some editors of the census, especially in the large cities of the Dominion. The census office earnestly desires that the name of every man, woman and child in the country as well as all other information called for in the census should be recorded as the statute and the instructions require. But lest there should be an inadvertent omission on the part of any enumerator, the office respectfully invites the co-operation of the public or the completion of a full census.

Right in your busiest season when you have the least time to spare you are most likely to take diarrhoea and lose several days' time, unless you have Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand and take a dose on the first appearance of the disease. For sale by all dealers.

Lieutenant Thorpe and I were the two officers present besides the principals, and we both endeavored to smooth the matter over. Waters said that if Claybourne would explain his absence he would apologize. Claybourne declined to explain and said that such a charge to an officer of the army did not admit of an apology.

Thorpe and I labored all that day to settle the matter amicably, but Claybourne would not explain, and with-

"He told me that he was and when I looked at him inquiringly added, 'No. After the war she relented, but too late for me. Recently I have married a girl from my native state. She was a Confederate sympathizer, but she understood my position and commended me for being true to my convictions.'"

Many years after I happened to meet the girl who had turned away a lover. She had never married.

THE SISTERS

She is the Most Beautiful of All the Sisters in the Eyes of Her Lover

By Clarissa Mackie

Copyright by American Press Association

The club was almost deserted that summer afternoon as Leiland strolled through the empty rooms. One or two elderly nuns craned their necks around the backs of deep leather chairs at the sound of his clucking boot heels on the polished floor, and then they drew back into their shells like very much disgusted turtles.

In one corner of the library Denny Cushing was yawning over a newspaper. Leiland uttered a quick "hello" and caught sight of his old friend.

"Denny Cushing, by all that's afoot!" he cried as their hands met in a warm clasp. "Here I am, wondering who will take pity and dine with me to-night. Would have considered myself lucky to get that addle-pated Johnson boy, and here you are. Where did you drop from, eh?"

"Been motoring through the Berkshires—beautiful too! Just got in this morning. What are you doing in town in this broiling weather?"

"What am I doing in town? I say, Denny, you're a flatterer sort of friend to have. I've just returned from a four months' stay in Porto Rico. Too late now to say you're missed me." He grinned good naturedly at Cushing's startled look.

"Porto Rico, Jack?" stammered Denny, reddening. "I had forgotten you went down. The fact is I've been all muddled up over some affairs of my own, and I won't beat about the bush, old man. I forgot there was anybody else in the world except Leiland."

"And the girl," added Leiland coolly.

"What? Denny sat up suddenly. "What do you mean, Jack?"

"Fudge! Forget it! Forget yourself and listen to my adventures in the land of the palm," rattled on Leiland.

"Had a bully time motoring around those country roads, as usual, when your uncle goes out for a good time he usually has adventures and to spare." He leaned back in his chair and pulled out a cigar case.

"You'll dine with me," he added.

"Thanks, with pleasure," said the other. "What about your adventures?"

"I was invited into the house and pressed to stay for dinner. Four or five of the men went down to the machine with me, and we pulled it out, much to the joy of poor Manuel, who retained his place as chauffeur."

"That night at the house of my new friend, and the next day I persuaded him to accompany me on my tour."

"We had a splendid time, and the old gentleman seemed to enjoy himself wonderfully. Said he wouldn't be happy until he had a husband of his own. His daughters were delighted with the idea, and I came south with his check in my pocket to purchase a car large enough to suit a man and his wife and four children."

"Leiland listened another cigar and twisted the match thoughtfully between his fingers."

"Denny Cushing muttered something inaudible and withdrew into the shadows of his chair, where he took the continual roll of wheels on the asphalt of the avenue, the shrill whistle of the traffic square at the corner, and the distant music of a street piano playing from 'Florida'."

"Jack Leiland bawled the words softly, beating time with his hand."

"Cut it out!" growled Denny hoarsely, and Jack Leiland stopped instantly.

"To make a long story short, I fell in love with the most beautiful girl in Porto Rico, and I'm going back in October to marry her. Congratulations, old man!"

"There was a dead silence after that. Denny Cushing's fingers tightly clenched the arms of his chair, and he did not lift his moody eyes to his friend's face."

"Mercedes had a sister who was quite pretty," began Jack, when Denny leaped to his feet.

"Who had a sister?" he yelled.

"Mercedes Provost had a sister, Inez, who was quite pretty."

"Quite pretty?" roared Denny Cushing. "Who? you said she was the most beautiful of course I thought she was. You told me, 'The reason of my love for this girl is that she is the most beautiful of all the girls in Porto Rico.'"

"I was smiling."

"Inez had a lover in the state here. He was fighting time with his hands and when one day he saw her kissing her cousin, Rimon Cadena, who was just home from a military school, this chunk of an American quarrelled with her, broke the engagement and ran away. Of course poor Inez is breaking her heart over the worthless scoundrel."

Denny Cushing grabbed Leiland by the coat collar and rubbed him through the hair with his hand.

"You're a dog, you're a dog, you're a dog!" he yelled, his face as red as a tomato.

"I'll run up to my rooms and throw some things together. I'll go on a scout if there's nothing better. With sparkling eyes he started for the door."

"What's the name of the place you are going to?" he yelled.

"Why, Paradise, of course," blurted Denny as he disappeared through the door.

"And that was the name painted on the gate," murmured Jack.

A BUSY SESSION.

South Africa's Legislature Have Made a Good Start.

The South African Union Parliament concluded its first session a short time ago, after sitting for ninety-eight days.

Harder, indeed, than any previous Parliament has worked in South Africa, nevertheless the session anticipated, the time has passed all too short, and not a tithe of the many pressing legislative measures of the country requires has found its way on to the statute-book.

Not only have such bills as the National University bill, the Asiatic Immigration bill, the solemnization of marriages bill had to be dropped, but no attempt was made to introduce such a bill as that to unify the Insolvency law of the four provinces or to reorganize the civil service. Nor, again, beyond certain provisions in the Statute book, the abolishing of the income tax in the Cape Province and of the poll-tax in Natal, has much been done.

Nevertheless, a decidedly hopeful start has been made. In all, close up of fifty bills have become law, and though the bulk of the year's work is inevitably uninteresting nature, there are men of letters. To many of them even four months is a serious session.

An exchange says that "one-third of the fools in the country think they can beat a lawyer in expounding the law. One-half think they can beat the doctor in healing the sick. Two-thirds of them think they can put the minister in the hole in preaching the gospel and all of them think they can beat the editor in running a newspaper." Of course there are none at Frank to whom the foregoing may rightly apply.

Knox Methodist church is to be congratulated on having such a large choir of strong male voices. In conjunction with this, it has three violinists and two cornet players, who assist the organist in giving excellent music to the worshippers. The church is almost crowded to its utmost capacity at every service.

There are events occurring in every community which, if reported in a local paper, would create a sensation little dreamed of. What to report and what not to report often perplexes the editor. He is often accused of cowardice and favoritism, when all the time he is looking toward the good reputation of the town where his lot is cast. The local editor from necessity almost constantly finds himself between two fires, and whichever way he turns he is sure to be unjustly treated. This is one of the pleasures of the newspaper business.

A MARRIAGE PROPOSAL.
A story of some interest has just leaked out and is told by the guardians of the young lady in question. The story is that quite recently a giddy young person of the male persuasion, who makes his home in one of the towns of The Pass, decided to make a formal offer of his heart and hand to one of Pincher Creek's representative ladies to whom he had been paying some attention for a time. He cautiously prefaced his declarations with a few questions: "Did she love him well enough to live in a small cottage at the west end of— with him? Was she a good cook? Did she think it a wife's duty to make home happy? Would she consult his tastes and wishes concerning her associates and pursuits of life. Could she make her own clothes?" The young lady said that before she answered his questions she would tell him of some negative virtues she possessed. She never drank, smoked or chewed; never staid out late playing cards or pool; never lounged on a porch and ogled giddy girls.
